

Postcard Project

All students must send a postcard to Aqsa School at some point during Ramadan or shortly after. Students may purchase the postcard or create one of their own. Students should choose or create a postcard that artistically expresses who they have become or what they learned about themselves this summer during the holy month of Ramadan.

On the back of the postcard, students must write a well-written note occupying all the space allowed. The note must reveal something new that the student learned about themselves this summer through an activity or experience they engaged in during Ramadan. Students must provide specific examples to support their ideas. Students should also analyze how the image on the postcard symbolizes their growth.

The note must adhere to the good writing techniques, such as--action verbs, similes/metaphors, hyperbole, onomatopoeia, dialogue, reflection, imagery, alliteration, personification, etc.

Make sure the student's name is clearly written on the postcard.

This project is worth 50 points.

Postcards must be sent to the following address:
